STUNNING MOUNTAINSIDE VIEWS ABOUND AT THE PRESERVE AT SIERRA CREEK

HOSCHTON, Ga. – Vintage Communities is proud to announce the grand opening of The Preserve at Sierra Creek, situated on the Little Mulberry River in the Hamilton Mill area of Gwinnett County.

The Preserve, priced from the low $300s, is the second neighborhood to open within the picturesque Sierra Creek community, which is located near the top of Poole Mountain. The Preserve features quality, custom-built homes surrounded by green space, including some homesites along the Little Mulberry River.

“Sierra Creek is unlike any other community in Northeast Atlanta. The incredible mountain vista views and the 65 acres of community green space make this neighborhood one of a kind. Vintage Communities really went above and beyond, carefully developing Sierra Creek with consideration for the natural beauty of the area,” said Jeanette Moore, onsite agent at Sierra Creek.

Homebuyers at The Preserve at Sierra Creek can customize their home to suit their lifestyle. They have the option of customizing an existing plan or bringing a plan of their own. Builders include Don Gale Homes and Blue Nile Homes.

An integral part of the Sierra Creek lifestyle is the abundance of recreational amenities available, both within the community and at nearby Little Mulberry Park. Homeowners at Sierra Creek will enjoy a beautifully decorated clubhouse with both formal and informal areas for adults and children, an outdoor fireplace; an aquatic center with competition sized swimming pool, double-spiral water park slide, and three water mushrooms; a playground and four lighted tennis courts as well as 65 acres of community green space. Homeowners can also take full advantage of the 890 acre Little Mulberry Park, which features miles of hiking and equestrian trails plus a lake and nature preserve.

Located in the superb Gwinnett County school district, children at Sierra Creek will attend Alcova Elementary, Dacula Middle School and Dacula High School.
